NEAR FINAL BATTLE OVER FATE OF IERC

Night Session Illinois House Cleared Way for Vote

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—Working on secondary bills, the House of Representatives today delayed its final vote on the administration's extension of the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Benjamin Adamowski of Chicago, Democratic floor leader, said the IERC extension and appropriation bill would not be called up again until next Tuesday. Many of the Democratic representatives were absent and House leaders were afraid to call up important bills.

As a result, final action on relief and several more major issues will be put off until the last week of the legislative session.

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—The three per cent utilities tax, still carrying the power-exemption amendment, had been approved by the House of Representatives today as a prelude to the final battle over extending the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

A companion to the three per cent sales tax the utility bill was passed without difficulty, 84 to 49, and sent back to the Senate for concurrence next week in the Peffer amendment exempting sales of industrial power, to which Governor Horner has strenuously objected.

The utility tax, if it held constitutional with the power exemption, and the one per cent increase in the sales tax are counted upon by the Horner administration to furnish approximately $26,000,000 yearly as the state's share of unemployment relief costs.

After Night Session

Passage of the utility bill came just before midnight last night, following prolonged sessions as the assembly sought to clean up its cluttered calendars before June ends.

Speaker Devine then called up the administration bill originating in the Senate, to extend for nineteen months past August 1 the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

The anticipated objections and criticism broke out at once from the Republican side, with Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville making a ten-minute attack on the IERC. Several Democrats, weary of the long session, wandered out and it became necessary to postpone the rest of the debate until the House convened this morning.

"Killing off Martin"

While he had the floor, Lyons highly praised John C. Martin of Salem, New chairman of the relief commission. He asked if the Democrats were trying "to kill Martin off politically."

Denouncing the IERC and its social workers, Lyons urged that the House consider the Hickman bill, also passed by the Senate, to substitute a state relief director for the commission.

Lyons said he would vote for the $45,000,000 state appropriation for relief, which is scheduled to be called up as soon as the Democratic forces send the IERC extension bill to the governor.

The $45,000,000, to be spent at a rate of not more than $3,000,000 monthly, is to be taken from the revenues from the increased sales

New Criminal Code of Illinois Is Dead for This Year at Least

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—The Illinois Bar Association's criminal code bill is dead, so far as this session of the legislature is concerned, but plans to pass it in 1937 or earlier were being made today.

A bill for a commission of five members of each House to make a further study of the recodification of criminal laws was introduced by Rep. Benjamin Adamowski of Chicago, Democratic leader. Adamowski failed in repeated attempts Summer will make its official bow at 3:38 A. M. tomorrow, Saturday will be virtually as long as today, but Sunday will be a full minute shorter.

NEW MEXICO IS DIRECTING HUNT

Gov. Tingley Orders a State-wide Search for Illinoisans

Vaughn, N. M., June 21.—(AP)—Gov. Clyde Tingley, who says New Mexico is jealous of the safety of its visitors, took personal charge today of a wide spread search for clues in the strange disappearance a month ago of four tourists from Illinois.

The call for searchers to cover a 300-square mile area of rugged arroyos and timbered defiles was issued on the theory that the missing tourists have been slain. National Guardsmen, police officers, state highway patrolmen, sheriffs' forces, Federal agents and volunteers joined in the hunt.

Only slender threads of fact guided the searchers as they started their task at the last point where there is definite knowledge of the missing tourists. Mr. and Mrs. George Lorus, East St. Louis, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heber, Duquoin, Ill.

Dropped From Sight

From this northeastern New Mexico town, a month ago, they sent a postal card to relatives and then they dropped from sight.

The car of Lorus, a coal dealer, was found abandoned and apparently ransacked. In a Dallas, Tex., garage May 28, travelers' checks, to which his name had been forged, appeared in St. Louis banks.

The possibility of murder and robbery was injected into the case when it was learned that Lorus wore a $500 diamond ring and the party also carried a considerable sum of money. Heber was a real estate operator at Duquoin.

The search started over a 70-mile road leading eastward to Mountain, N. M. The governor told the men to check carefully every side road, to examine each opening in fences, to look into every farm entrance and to investigate thoroughly the territory where there is no fencing.

MAYOR KELLEY'S TRIP TO STATE HOUSE SUCCESS

Chicago Boss Gets All He Asks For From the Legislature

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, who gets about everything he wants from the legislature in spite of Republican attacks, today was virtually certain of final passage of his bill giving "home rule" to the metropolis in dealing with its traction affairs.

Debate was stormy, but the house passed the bill, 86 to 45, late last night as Kelly personally checked the votes. It went back to the senate, which as recessed until Tuesday for concurrence in amendments limiting the home rule grant to control over transportation and bus lines only.

Charges were made and denied that the Chicago officials intend to promote the interests of the elevated and bus lines, against those of the street car company, in settling the involved traction problem.

Successful Trip

Kelly's latest trip to Springfield was successful. The Senate yesterday completed action on his bill to let Chicago license handbooks as a means of controlling gambling on race horse races, although there were rumors that Governor Horner might not approve the measure because of constitutional questions. In addition, the legislature passed a long series of bills for the financial benefit of the local government at Chicago.

In its original form, the home rule bill would give Chicago control over all of its utilities, but it was amended to apply only to the companies involved in the traction situation. A referendum is required.

On the floor of the house, it was referred to as a fight between the elevated lines, which favor the mayor's bill, and the surface lines which are now operating, by authority of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Chicago transportation companies would be denied the use of the streets unless they have franchises in good standing.

HEAD ILLINOIS MINERS FREE OF MURDER CHARGE

Sangamon Co. Jurors Vote No True Bill Against Leader

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—Ray Edmundson, state president of the United Mine Workers of America, has been absolved of blame in the Easter Sunday riot here.

The Sangamon county grand jury late yesterday voted "no true bills" on charges of murder and assault with intent to kill.

Edmundson and two associates, Fred Thomson and William Furrow, were arrested following the gun battle and held in connection with the death of Edris Mahie, a member of the Progressive Miners of America.

Several others were wounded in the battle which broke out between the two mine factions on the city square. Edmundson and his two companions were said to have been on the scene of the trouble.

Unless new evidence is presented, further action will not be taken against Edmundson. Thirty-three witnesses testified before the jury.

Circuit Judge L. E. Stone ordered the discharge of the bonds of Edmundson and the other men.

Seven Years of Fear of "Black-Hand" Vengeance Drive Woman to Suicide

Mother of Boy Kidnaped in 1928, Drank Fatal Dose

Chicago, June 21.—(AP)—Seven years of fear of "black-hand" vengeance ended for Mrs. Theresa Ranieri, 49-year-old mother of "Billy" Ranieri died at a hospital of poison which her husband said was self administered.

Breaking a period of silence, Mrs. Ranieri gave to investigators information that led to the arrest and who kidnaped her son in 1928, and subsequent conviction of the men since then had lived in constant fear that attempts to slay her might be made in retaliation for her cooperation with the police.

For years a police guard was maintained at the Ranieri home to prevent any attempt to harm her. "Billy," now 18, was with his mother when she died. Alex Ranieri, her husband, formerly a well-to-do contractor, who lost his fortune, said he found his wife on the bathroom floor at their home, and added that ill health was the cause of her act.

Seized in 1928

"Billy" was seized Sept. 6, 1928, as he was returning from school and forced by two men to get into an automobile. Notes demanding $50,000 ransom and threatening death to the boy unless the demands were met were received by the father. Thirteen days after his seizure "Billy" was given $10 by his captors and released on a road near Joliet, Ill., whence he made his way to a filling station and then back home. His father said no ransom was paid. Two men were convicted of the kidnaping and sentenced to 25 years each in prison.

The kidnapers' den was found to be a small farmhouse near Kankakee, Ill.

Third Annual Horse Show Dates are Set

The third annual Dixon horse show will be held August 16 and 17 at the high school athletic field, it was announced today, the dates being tentative. The association is attempting to secure one of the foremost polo teams from Chicago as a feature of the show this summer and for that reason, definite date are not certain. Several other special attractions will appear on the program which gives promise of making this year's show the best of any yet undertaken.

Several of the local horse owners will enter their mounts in the annual DeKalb horse show to be Friday, June 27. Dr. Z. W. Moss, Mrs. George Belier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickey and Dr. Grover Moss will be entered in several of the events and it is expected that the DeKalb show will attract a large attendance from Dixon.

Sterling Woman Took Own Life by Hanging

Despondent over ill health, augmented by the death of her husband four months ago, Mrs. Rose Royer ended her sufferings by hanging herself in the basement of her home in Sterling about 11:10 o'clock Thursday morning. A girl companion, who lived in the home with Mrs. Royer, discovered the lifeless form when she returned from a few minutes' absence from the house.

"BOB" SWEITZER SURRENDERS TO SHERIFF TODAY

Ousted Cook Co. Official Eluded Officers All Night

Chicago, June 21.—(AP)—Robert M. Sweitzer, indicted for a shortage of $414,129 in the funds of the county clerk, an office he held 24 years, surrendered today to the sheriff's office.

Sweitzer, who was ousted forcibly from the office of county treasurer two weeks ago, gave himself up after evading service all night of a capias that had been issued for him late yesterday.

He waited near the Criminal Courts building while his attorney, J. Harvey Levinson, arranged the $10,000 bond required under the indictment and then surrendered himself in the private office of Sheriff John Toman, who was not present.

A deputy sheriff who attempted to serve the capias on Sweitzer at his home last night reported that the ousted county official was not there. Levinson said he notified the state's attorney's office that his client would surrender today.

Sweitzer shook his head vigorously and emphasized the word "not" when he was taken before Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal Court and pleaded not guilty.

His case was set for a hearing on motions July 22 by Judge Eli Frankhauser to whom it was assigned by the chief justice.

FATAL RIOTING

THREE CONVICTS ESCAPE JOLIET PRISON EASILY

Dropped Over Walls, and Made Getaway in Auto This Morning

Joliet, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—Three convicts assigned to the quarry of the old Illinois penitentiary here escaped today by racing up the steps of an empty guard tower and dropping over the 25-foot stone wall.

Two confederates waiting in a fast 1935 model sedan, ten feet from the wall, picked up the three and sped away toward Chicago. The car was parked on highway 4-A which borders the prison.

Those who escaped were Jack Ellis, 26, Vernon Guthrie, 32, and George White, 25, each sentenced to serve from one to ten years for grand larceny committed in Chicago.

Warden Frank Whipp said no guard was on duty in the tower because only a small detail was at work in the quarry. Julius Christensen, in charge of the detail, said his men could not open fire on the fugitives once they dropped over the wall, for fear of hitting motorists on the busy Joliet-to-Chicago road.

Police Outdistanced

When the three reached the waiting car, it sped toward Lockport. Two of the guards commanded a car driven by Harold de Zee, Joliet, who was passing, and gave chase. They lost their quarry in Lockport. A Lockport police officer who joined in the pursuit also was eluded.

Later prison officials received a report that a convict's shirt had been thrown from a car in a Chicago street.

White went to prison August 26, 1932. Ellis was received May 11, 1933 and Guthrie on March 16 of the same year.

Ellis, a former prize fighter, escaped once before by hiding in a freight train shunted into the prison. He was captured a few hours later between Plainfield and Aurora.

Burlington, Ia., June 21.—(AP)—Ferdinand W. Meyer of Burlington indicated today there would be no objection to exhumation of the body of his sister, Mary L. Bosler, found in Lake Michigan May 29 and buried June 12 without being identified.

He said, however, he was awaiting word from another sister, Miss Sophie Meyer, visiting in Rockford, Ill., before authorizing Chicago authorities to proceed with the exhumation, asked by Dr. Irene Behnke, friend and business associate of the Chicago singing teacher and modiste.

Identification of the body was made by friends through coroner's photographs.

Illinois House Refuses Recounts Two Contests

CONFUSION SEEN IN WASHINGTON

None Able to Clearly Appraise Situation in National Capital

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—As congress works wearily into the "dog days" with adjournment indefinite, the Capital finds it far more difficult to appraise the political situation now than a year ago.

Hardly a day passes without illustrating the confusion. A sense of great decisions approaching, with consequences that can only be guessed, is in the air. The reliability of old measuring rods is being questioned.

President Roosevelt's latest move for higher taxes on wealth, added a major factor yet to be fathomed. The post-NRA dispute over the Constitution, in which Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) joined a fight, bids fair to grow into one over basic economic and social philosophy. It crosses party divisions.

Discord among leading Democrats over the New Deal centers on fundamentals not easily brushed aside. And enthusiasm for parts of it among some Republicans, at a time when GOP organizers are seeking party solidarity, cannot be gainsaid.

Last year at this time the legislators had gone home to campaign largely along the customary lines. The administration had obtained passage of its bills, including stock market regulation, housing promotion and reciprocal tariff authority without much difficulty.

Many happenings have operated for change since. November's overwhelming Democratic victories at the polls brought predictions of "easy going" for the New Deal which were soon belied.

Reformatory Supt. Refuses Custody of Two Boy Kidnapers

Indianapolis, Ind., June 21.—(AP)—A. F. Miles, state reformatory superintendent, today refused to accept custody of Bascom Ray, Jr., 14, and Maurice Sheridan, 17, the two Huntington, W. Va., boys sentenced to life imprisonment for the kidnaping of a southern Indiana sheriff.

Superintendent Miles at the Pendleton reformatory said that under the state law he cannot admit persons sentenced to a life term and neither can he accept a prisoner under the age of 16 years.

Meanwhile in this city T. Ernest Maholin, an attorney, announced he had been retained by Ray's father to seek a new trial for the boys.

Your evening Telegraph carrier boy will call upon you tomorrow for the regular weekly collection. Be kind enough to have the money ready. There are 35 carriers who must cover their routes in haste. Please assist them.

Estimate Cost of Illinois Old Age Pensions $6,056,974 Yearly

Springfield, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—481,126 persons in Illinois have reached 65 years and this would meet the first requirement for pension eligibility. But from the experiences of other states, he said the number of persons actually qualifying would be about 34,950.

The pension bill now before Governor Horner provides for payments of $1 a day. Swanson estimated, however, that the actual cost to the state would be around $49 cents daily.

OVER 5 INCH RAINFALL IN LITTLE EGYPT

Railroad Traffic is Tied Up; Considerable Damage

Carbondale, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—Rainfall of cloudburst proportions today flooded highways near here, tied up railroad traffic, and crippled communication systems as rising waters of the Big Muddy overflowed bordering lowlands.

A 5.51-inch deluge last night left Carbondale a virtual city of canals. The water stood three feet deep in sections and damaged thousands of dollars worth of merchandise in stores in low lying portions of the city. Boys cruised about the flooded streets in rowboats.

Three south-bound passenger trains, the Panama Limited, the Chickasaw, and the Seminole, were tied up here. The Illinois Central tracks were under five feet of water.

Fruit Trees Damaged

Hail and wind seriously damaged apple and peach trees and added to the heavy crop loss written by torrential creeks as they swept out of their banks.

A three-foot wall of water collected at the intersection of highways 37 and 13 in Marion, and a 50-foot sink hole was reported in route 34 at Rosiclar. Highway officials expected traffic on highway 13 east of here to be halted over Crab Orchard.

An Illinois Central engine was forced off the track at Bristol by debris and rocks washed on the rails.

The water was reported the highest in history over the railroad tracks at Makanda, Ill. and Illinois Central passenger and freight trains are being held at Carbondale and Anna until the water drains off sufficiently to permit resumption of traffic over the weakened tracks in safety.

Illinois Central passenger train No. 10 northbound was the last train to pass through the flooded area in that section last night. The water was reported two inches over the rails at that time.

Other Washouts

A work train left Centuria at 4:30 A. M. today for the scene with cinders to strengthen the water-soaked track bed.

The Big Four railroad reported three track washouts in Saline and Johnson counties between Harrisburg and Vienna.

Officers of CCC Camp Herod in Pope county, eleven miles southeast of Harrisburg reported a cloudburst last night. They stated that while no damage occurred at the camp two cottages and a dance hall less than a half mile away were swept from their foundations by water rushing down the Ozark foot hills.

Some Livestock Lost

Near Herrin, Ill., some farmers were sent fleeing from their homes when a dam holding back water for the Herrin city reservoir gave way shortly after midnight under the terrific pounding of the flood waters inundating two miles of farm lands. Some livestock was reported washed away but details as to the extent of the damage could not immediately be determined owing to poor communications.

The water supply in the Herrin reservoir fell from 35 feet to a level of three feet when the dam washed out.

At Marion, filling station attendants at the junction of highways 37 and 13, were marooned in their stations all night when the water rose so rapidly, their escape was blocked off.

"THEY SAY"

(By Joseph Fort Newton.)

"AL did you hear what So-and-so said to me a moment ago?" a friend asked the late Calvin Coolidge, when a young lawyer, "He told me to go to the hottest place of all!"

"Yes, I heard what he said," replied Coolidge, without the slightest suggestion of a smile. "But never mind; don't worry; I've looked up the law—and you don't have to go unless you want to."

Plain truth and dry wit are equally mixed in that reply. What others say to us or about us need not bother us, unless we let it. Because someone says a thing does not make it so.

All of us make too much ado about what others say, or what we think they might say about us. A lot of our misery is due to a foolish self-importance, imagining what others may say about us.

In this regard women are more sensitive than men, making no end of unhappiness for themselves, but men do it too. At least it ought to teach us to be gentle and generous in speaking of others!

Over the door of a famous college in Scotland are the words: They say. What do they say? Let them say! It is a sensible motto for all of us—do not let chattering tongues spoil your life.

Others see us from the outside. They do not know our motive or spirit, and if they impute evil motives to us they only reveal themselves. If we do out best, we can let it go at that.

"Charity thinketh no evil," we are told; it does not go snooping about suspecting the worst. If it meets evil it asks three questions: "Is it true? Must it be told? Will it do any good?"

No, what really hurts is not what others say about us. That may annoy and irritate, if we let it do so. What hurts most is what we say to ourselves, and about ourselves, when we are alone.

By self-depreciation one may break down faith in himself, belittle his own soul and make himself a creeping thing. "Son of man stand upon thy feet and I will speak with thee," was the ancient word of God.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin with veil of tulle and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. Her sister, Miss Helen Cleaver of Cape Girardeau, Mo., served as maid of honor, and wore a gown of pale pink satin and net and carried pink and blue flowers. Rucker Ryland of Richmond was best man.

A reception followed the wedding at Lidas Wood hall, Eureka college, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon left for New York, where they will sail June 22 for Glasgow, Scotland, to make their home. Tuesday's bride and groom first met in Paris last summer where Mr. Gordon was teaching and Miss Cleaver and her sister were studying French. Mrs. Gordon is a graduate of Eureka college and a member of Delta Zeta sorority. Mr. Gordon is in the United States consular service in Glasgow.

Miss Lucille Payne of Rockford, a sorority sister of the bride, was among the out-of-town wedding guests as were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Straw and Miss Olive Palmer of Dixon, and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Pottersveld of Milwaukee.

The Rev. Mr. Cleaver, father of the bride, served as pastor of Dixon Christian church for ten years before being given his present charge at Eureka.

THE BETTER HOUSING SHOW

Dixon's Better Housing Exhibition, sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration, is a part of the United States Government's effort to promote prosperity through a stimulation of the building and kindred industries. Have you taken the interest demanded by public welfare and your own welfare, to go and see it?

The exhibition, which is free, is being held in the Schuler Building on West First Street, just east of the I. N. U. building, all this week. Look it over tonight or tomorrow night. It is well worth your while. You will find many beautiful things to improve your home and will get ideas of modernization that will make your home more valuable and more comfortable. Dixon merchants have done themselves proud in this exhibition.

Modern methods of heating and of cooling your house. The latest in refrigeration. Tomorrow's kitchen, bathroom, and laundry. Inspirations in landscape gardening. Everything for house and garden. And under the Federal Housing Act it is made possible for anyone with a reputation for credit and an income that will permit repayment over a period of years, to borrow from our local banks for the purchase of these things.

DEMOCRACY AS SHE WORKS

Not touching the point of desirability of age pensions and other social security is a thought thrown out to us by Senator Hastings of Rhode Island, when the bill was under consideration. He cited the fact that in ten years the annuity plan reserves will have reached the sum of 10 billions and that in forty-three years, they will amount to 47 billions, and added:

"Does anybody have any doubt that this fund will be used for current expenses? With more than 25 million people interested in it, how can congress resist demands for loans or advance payments?"

The first question probably is suggested by the manner in which the government has dealt with its share of funds supposed to be set aside for pensioning of federal employees under civil service. The government has been guilty of repeated delinquency in maintaining its share of that fund. In other words, it has been using the money for current expenses, as the senator suggests.

The second question everybody will recognize as a parallel to the issue pertaining to the soldiers' bonus. There were 4 million soldiers interested in "loans" or "advance payments" on agreements by the government to pay a specified amount on a certain date. Senator Hastings points to the fact that there will be 25 million persons interested in loans and advance payments from the funds contributed to by them and set aside for payment at a specified time.

If congress could not resist the pressure of 4 millions of persons who threatened opposition at election time, how will it be able to resist the pressure from 25 millions?

It is not merely a matter of desire to do well by all meritorious persons that is the issue. We all desire that. The question now is what will be the effect upon our government when 4 million soldiers, 25 million civil pensioners, and a million federal employees, who have stakes in the United States treasury, join, all for one and one for all in increasing their stakes? That is the question Senator Hastings drops into our laps.

KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT

"Taxes must be extended because of the hole the Hoover administration left us in," said Representative Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the committee on ways and means, the tax raising committee.

Perhaps there are many new members of the house who do not remember the part Representative Doughton played in "the hole the Hoover administration left us in."

The Hoover administration was pleading with the democratic house of representatives, which, which was responsible for much of the disorder of the last two years of Hoover, to enact a revenue law that would balance the budget. Had the democratic congress raised the revenue to balance the budget, as requested by Hoover, there would have been no "hole."

Who was responsible for this refusal of the democrats to balance the budget? The leader in that responsibility was Representative Doughton. Many have a distinct recollection of witnessing this same Mr. Doughton in the well of the house of representatives urging his fellows to vote against the bill as framed by the ways and means committee and to favor the amendments which prevented balancing of the budget.

This was not a mere circumstance. It was a matter of great moment in the lower house at that session. It was of such importance that an announcement was made by Speaker John N. Garner that he would leave the chair to address the members from the floor. This he did, in opposition to Mr. Doughton. He talked to his democratic friends like an evangelist about the necessity of balancing the budget. He was followed by Representative Rainey, then floor leader of the majority, who urged passage of the bill that would balance the budget.

But Representative Doughton offered the best proposition. It was less taxation, leaving bills incurred necessarily to be paid at some future time. Just as they are doing today, he proposed postponing the fatal day.

Of all the persons who should not talk about the "hole the Hoover administration left us in," Doughton is that person.

Germany has been badly treated. The nations are again ranging up against her. Europe ought to thank Germany and Hitler for saving them from the Red Peril. —Ex-Crown Prince William of Germany.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN

Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Kind Mrs. Rip had fixed a meal she knew would make the Tines feel good. It was a lot of fun to watch the youngsters eat. "Oh, my, I just love home-made bread, and yours looks dandy," Doty said. I'll put some of your jam upon it. What a wondrous treat!

"The meat is what looks good to me," we Coppy added. "I can see where I will have to watch myself, or I will eat too much."

"And there's a tasty frosted cake. A great piece of that I'll take. Until we've finished all else, though, we really mustn't touch."

"That is dessert, and it comes last. Be careful, lads, don't eat too fast." "Aw, practice what you preach," snapped Windy. "We know what is right."

And, so the Tines ate and ate, till too much made them hesitate. Wee Duncy jumped and said, "I cannot eat another bite."

He wandered off from all the rest and thought, I'll do my very best to wake up Rip Van Winkle.

so he'll get some good food, too." Just then two little tots popped out. One of them said, "You know, no doubt, that we are little Trouble Tots. We've come to play with you."

"That's fine," said Duncy. "I've a plan. Now, will you help me, if you can? I want to find a way to wake up Rip Van Winkle, now."

"You bet we'll help," one tot replied, as he rushed up to of Rip's side. "We'll think of some good way, and then we'll quickly tell you how."

The other said, "Don't bother us, 'cause if you do, you'll start a fuss. We have to sit down when we think." Then they sat on the ground.

Wee Duncy watched them for a while. Then one looked up and, with a smile, said, "Do not grow impatient lad. We're thinking 'Hang around!'"

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

TEXT: Acts 1:6-8; 13:1-12.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 23.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

(Editor of Advance.)

If it had not been for the missionary spirit in Christianity, there would have been no Christianity at all.

Jesus Himself instituted Christian missions when He sent His early disciples forth two by two into the villages of Galilee and Judea proclaiming the Gospel of the Kingdom.

This was the beginning of the Christian home missions, but it is the characteristic of a missionary reliance that it cannot be confined to home bases or kept within the home borders. In the very nature of the case it must expand. Its impulse is to go forth and tell the good news that it has received.

Professor Hocking of Harvard University, in addresses in connection with the Layman's Missionary Movement, has emphasized this world-wide aspect of truth as the deep and essential missionary motive. If this had not been true of Christianity it would need to be true today if religion would keep abreast of science and other departments of inquiry into truth.

Today, when some great truth is discovered in one land or some great invention is developed, inevitably it spreads to other countries. It is in the very nature of anything that is important that it becomes world-wide in its scope and influence.

We should bear this in mind at a time when missions, and especially foreign missions, are being disparaged, though the deep motive in missions will always be the elemental Christian impulse. Where Christian faith is deep, intense and strong, missionary movements will always flourish and only such faith can keep them permanent and effective. Our lesson may be taken as a New Testament illustration of this truth or as the story of its New Testament foundation. It is the story of the church "sending forth" its preachers and prophets to proclaim the word of God.

One charge against Christian missions has been that the work of the missionary has been carried on in the midst of much superstition and hypocrisy. The faith of converts has been challenged, and it has been claimed that such converts turned to Christ and the Christian missionary for some advantage that they could get out of doing so.

It is interesting to know that here in the early days of Christian missions the same factors were present. There were sorcerers and perverters of truth who sought to make their own profit out of the movement.

But how little effect they had, and how little their perversion and hypocrisy had to do with the true motive and work of missions in making known to reality and power of the Gospel.

The work of Christian missions is to be judged by its triumphs and not by its failures. It is to be judged no less by its converts than by its great preachers and prophets.

A spiritual leader, like Kagawa in Japan, stands out as a great example of what the Christian witness has achieved. The Gospel in its power knows no bounds of race or nationality. It is a power adaptable to all the world and it is the only power that can save the world.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

So the poor hath hope, and iniquity stoppeth her mouth. — Job 5:16.

Hope is the best possession. None are completely wretched but those who are without hope, and few are reduced so low as that.—Hazlitt.

Forty is now the average age of World War veterans.

Mutiny or No Mutiny, Movie Actors Must Eat

Right in the midst of the liveliest action on board the Bounty, off Catalina Island, when Captain Bligh is facing a sullen, mutinous crew, in a scene for "Mutiny on the Bounty," comes the call for lunch. That's the quite different scene you see here, when the cameras aren't clicking. Food is served cafeteria style, and captain and crew share and share alike.

DAILY HEALTH

WATER DRUNK

For many a year the gay wit has insisted that one can get drunk on water as well as on spirituous liquors. Science has recently given new meaning to the expression "drunk on water."

Under the term water intoxication are included a number of clinical symptoms which, taken together, form a definite disease picture.

Appreciation of the mechanisms of water intoxication is particularly significant at this time because of the current practice of forcing fluids during fever and other clinical conditions.

While it is desirable to keep the body from becoming dehydrated, it is apparently quite dangerous to force the water intake to an excessive degree.

The story of water intoxication has an involved history. For years numerous isolated observations have been made bearing on the effects of excessive water intake.

Some 15 years ago it was observed that diabetic patients who were in the habit of drinking from two to two and three-quarter gallons of water daily (excessive thirst is a common symptom in diabetes), and who ordinarily suffered no evil effects, developed headache, nausea, weakness, muscular incoordination and a state of "internal nervousness" when treated with an extract from the pituitary gland. The reason was not clearly understood.

It was found that symptoms similar to those witnessed in diabetic patients could be produced in animals to whom large amounts of distilled water were given.

From these experiments it was concluded that the disease picture seen in the diabetic patients was one of "water intoxication," and the fault lay in a disturbance of the salt balance of the body.

This conviction was corroborated by the fact that in the experimental animals the symptoms of water intoxication could be relieved and completely avoided by the administration of a salt-containing solution.

Tomorrow: Heat Cramps

When a train from the suburbs of Paris is late, officials give out slips showing the exact time of arrival so commuters will have evidence to explain their tardiness to employers.

Cunningham to Run in Ozark A. A. Meeting

St. Louis, June 21—(AP)—Glen Cunningham, world mile record holder, and two other great runners will compete in a special 1000-meter race as a feature of the Ozark A. A. track meet here June 28 in Walch stadium.

Cunningham's opponents will be Glen Dawson of Tulsa, Okla., and Elton Brown, Pittsburg, Kan. "Oklahoma Glen" and Brown, former Pittsburg Teachers' star, wired their acceptances last night, it was announced by F. Marvin Plake, the meet chairman.

The Indians and Negroes of Northern Venezuela are so fond of the oil made from the cave-bird that they make annual raids on the caverns where the birds nest. The young birds furnish the fat from which the oil is made. They are such confirmed cave dwellers that they will not fly out when a raid is taking place.

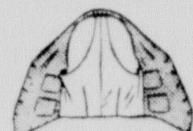

The last widow of the Revolutionary War died in 1910. There are still seven widows of the War of 1812 receiving pensions from the American government.

Weyerhaeuser Kidnap Clews Bared by G-Men

Just released by the Department of Justice, the three pictures shown here with that of George Weyerhaeuser, Jr., reveal clews in the kidnaping hunt that has landed two suspects and put searchers on the trail of the third. In the hole in the ground from which the lid is tilted against the huge log in the upper photo, the lad was held captive near Issaquah, Wash., the night before he was freed. On top of the log are the blanket given the lad for cover, and a hammer. At left below are the unburned corners of $5 bills which Harmon M. Waley, confessed kidnaper, stuffed in a kitchen stove fire when he became alarmed because his wife failed to return from her ransom-passing trip in Salt Lake City. At right below is shown board of the pit, with the chain which held the lad, the shovel, axe, hammer, and can cover also found in the hole.

Size, color, texture, condition... all these have something to do with aroma and flavor

Leaf by leaf, the sun-ripened Turkish tobacco is selected or rejected to get just the right kind for Chesterfield's milder, better taste.

White Sox Drop Into Third Place as Athletics Triumph in First Game of Double Bill

Cleveland Indians Resume Climb in American League

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Many reasons have been advanced as to why the New York Yankees lead the American League pack by five and one-half games, not the least of which is Johnny Allen, the man who came back.

His arm went bad early last year with the result he was offered a contract calling for $1 a year until he showed Boss Joe McCarthy that he had regained his old-time effectiveness.

The statistics tell the remainder of the story. Johnny has chalked up six victories against two defeats and ranks second only to Vito Tamulis among the hurlers on a team that boasts such stars as Lefty Gomez and Charlie Ruffing.

He stopped the Detroit Tigers yesterday with five hits as the Yankees turned back the circuit champions for the third straight time, winning 5 to 2.

Bill Dickey Injured

Young Joe Sullivan hit Bill Dickey on the head and he had to be carried from the field. An X-ray examination showed only a slight concussion, however, and the veteran catcher is expected back in the lineup within a few days.

The Cleveland Indians climbed over the White Sox into second place by trouncing the Washington Senators 8 to 6 while the pale horses were dividing a pair with the Philadelphia Athletics. A home run by Ralph Winegarner, pinch-hitting in the eighth, started the Indians on a three-run rally that gave them victory.

Jimmy Fox's 12th home run of the season with Bob Johnson on base in the tenth decided the first of the Philadelphia-Chicago double header in favor of the A's by a score of 5 to 2. The nightcap also went to extra innings, three singles giving the Sox a 2 to 1 victory in the twelfth. Roger Cramer and Zeke Bonura hit home runs in the second, the latter getting his 12th.

Home Runs Important

Home runs also played an important part in the New York Giants' 6 to 2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bill Terry and Joe Moore drove in half of the Giants' runs with circuit swats as Roy Parmelee and Al Smith held the Bucs to four hits. Parmelee retired in the fifth because of a strained back.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved within five points of second place by defeating the Phillies 3 to 1 behind the five-hitting hurling of Dizzy Dean and Jimmy Collins' home run with a mate on base. The victory was Dizzy's tenth of the season as compared to five setbacks.

Two big innings left the Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds

OHIO STATE HAS ONLY CHANCE TO UNSEAT SO. CAL.

However Trojans Look Good to Take N. C. A. C. Meet Today

Berkeley, Calif., June 21—(AP)—Ohio State's track and field team, listing the great Jesse Owens and Charles Beetham, apparently now stands the only chance of overtaking the powerful University of Southern California squad in the National Collegiate Athletic Association classic opening today.

Owens, the Negro performer of the Buckeyes has removed all doubt about his entering four events. He will pit his speed and endurance against the best the nation offers in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 220 yard low hurdles and the broad jump. Some doubt had existed whether he would run the barrier event.

Beetham is a leading threat in the half-mile run.

From all indications, Dean Cromwell's Southern Californians, already champions by a wide margin in the Intercollegiate A. A. A. this year, were destined to practically walk off with team honors among the 251 athletes from more than 80 schools.

Of the 28 Trojans entered, every one rated better than a mediocre chance of winning points. Without taking a first, something very unlikely, U. S. C. could still win, although Ohio State might make things serious should Owens come through in all four events. Beetham won the 880 and Melvin Walker, an improved high jumper, finish among the leaders.

Sharkey to Attempt Comeback, Manager Declares to Press

Des Moines, June 21—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is going to try a comeback. So says his manager, Jack Buckley.

Stopping off here enroute to the west coast, Buckley said Sharkey decided to come back to the ring after Max Baer lost his title to Jim Braddock.

"Jack was not at the match, but I went to see him right after the bout and told him about the battle. He then made up his mind to stage a comeback. He is now secretly training at his home in Boston," Buckley asserted.

"Another thing, Braddock was once Sharkey's stablemate and Jack had little trouble handling the new heavyweight champion."

Buckley, switching his conversation to the Joe Louis-Primo Carnera fight next week, picked the massive Italian, to whom Sharkey lost his title two years ago, to defeat the "Brown Bomber."

LURE OF LOUIS' PUNCH TO DRAW FANS TO FIGHT

Everyone Seems to Believe Negro Will Put Carnera to Sleep

New York, June 21—(AP)—The expectation that Joe Louis, sensational Negro pugilist, will reduce huge Primo Carnera to a punch-riddled heap in the ring at Yankee Stadium Tuesday night seems to be widespread among metropolitan fight followers.

It has been prompted no doubt by such headlines as these:

"Joe Louis' punch is magnet; Brown Bomber has had every opponent in his professional career on floor."

"Louis like Black Dempsey; Detroit Destroyer merciless on sparring partners as was Manassa Mauler."

"Bomber sees kayo victory in five rounds."

As far as offering a forecast is concerned, all this can be tossed to the waste basket. It's the logical ballyhoo for the fight.

It is true that Louis has a great punching record and that the cash customers are being lured by the prospect of modified mayhem. It is well to bear in mind, however, that Barney Ross was confident of knocking out Jimmy McLarnin, and Max Baer was sure he would put Jimmy Braddock to sleep inside a half dozen rounds. There was not even a knockdown in either fight.

May Handicap Himself

Louis' reputation for administering knockout wallops to his opponents is such that he may handicap himself by trying too hard and too soon to bring down the giant Italian.

For all his rapid and spectacular rise, Louis lacks experience. His record of 18 knockouts in 22 professional fights within a year is impressive until the list is examined. It does not include many victims with familiar names.

Carnera, of course, is a difficult target to miss inside the ring. He is apt to become flustered under heavy fire, and his chin has a manifest weakness when solidly hit. But for all its erratic pugilistic course, Prima has improved his defensive ability and shown rare gameness. Max Baer had the Italian on the floor 11 times but could not keep him there.

The hopes of a "gate" of upward of $300,000, fifty per cent more than the Baer-Braddock title fight drew is based largely on the attraction of the Louis knockout punch. The customers like to see big fellows tumble.

YALE WON BOTH MORNING RACES OF ANNUAL MEET

President Sees Son Defeated in One Harvard Shell

New London, Conn., June 21—(AP)—Yale swept both morning races of its 73rd annual regatta with Harvard on the Thames today, winning the freshman race by eight feet and the junior varsity by little more than six feet.

It was the most exciting morning program in the history of Yale-Harvard rowing rivalry which dates back to 1852.

The Eli's captured the two mile upstream freshman race with a magnificent sprint finish after Harvard had led practically all the way from the start to within a few yards of the finish line.

The junior varsity engagement, rowed over the same course, was even closer but in this case Yale gained a lead in the first few hundred yards and held it all the way to the finish at Bartlett's Cove. The Eli Jayves led by almost three quarters of a length with a hundred yards to go when Harvard began a finishing spurt that just failed to nip the Blue at the line.

It was the second successive year in which Yale captured both morning races.

Heading the spectators was President Roosevelt, here to watch his son, Franklin, Jr., row with the beaten Harvard junior varsity.

The climax race of the regatta, the four mile downstream varsity brush, will be rowed at 5 P. M. (Central Standard Time) this evening.

Despite political and military hindrances, United States exports to China have increased about ten fold since 1900. In that year, China took $12,533,000 worth of goods from this country; in 1930 it took $106,560,300 worth of commodities.

RADIO SOLOISTS WILL SING WITH MT. MORRIS BAND

David Allen, Tenor, Will Appear on Saturday
Evening's Program

Concert goes will be accorded a real treat tomorrow evening when David Allen, tenor, will appear as soloist with Kable Brothers 129th Infantry band, in its weekly program at Mount Morris. Mr. Allen, a native of Logansport, Indiana, has studied voice in both Europe and America. A designing engineer by profession, Mr. Allen has developed his hobby, singing. His voice is well known to radio audiences in his home state.

While visiting his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith, Mr. Allen heard the 129th Band, and decided to return to Mount Morris to sing with this famous organization. Mr. Allen has selected two numbers from "The Student Prince" for his initial appearance, as soloist with the Kable Band.

Dwight Moring will make his first bow to a Mount Morris audience, next Saturday evening, when he appears as saxophone soloist with the band. Dwight is 16 years of age. With his dad and mother, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Moring, he makes his home in Forreston. But Dwight's reputation has become national. For the second time, this earnest little chap has been accorded first honors in the National High School solo contest—last year at Des Moines, and this year at Madison, Wis. There is no foolishness about Dwight. He knows what is required is hard, earnest effort. If one is to scale the heights in these great national contests, Evert Gavin coached him for the 1934 contest, and Fred McInnis carefully groomed him for success this year. Dwight does the rest—many, many hours of conscientious, intelligent practice. He is also ambitious to be a composer. His first number, a saxophone solo, proves that he possesses the power to create musical thought in a very capable manner, for one so young.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElmitt © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY KATHARINE STRYKHURST. 20 and beautiful, allows her emotions to rule when she marries MICHAEL HEATHEROE, young riding instructor who comes into a title and fortune. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother is snobbish.

The night following his marriage Michael is injured in a traffic accident and when he regains consciousness his memory is impaired. He forgets the marriage. Katharine, unaware of this, believes he has deserted her. She plans to leave for New Mexico and her friend, VIOLET MEISER, agrees to engage a lawyer in her absence to arrange an annulment of the marriage.

DR. JOHN KAYE, an old friend, sees Katharine off on her trip. He tells her he has always loved her.

SALLY MOON, who has loved Michael into a sort of engagement, plans for their wedding, unaware of Michael's marriage to Katharine. Suddenly during a rehearsal of the ceremony Michael recovers his memory.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII

MICHAEL dashed out into the quiet street. Dusk had fallen half an hour before. There was the scent of bonfires in the darkness. A moon hung, poised uncertainly over the church steeple. There were clouds.

Hatless, he found himself running down the road. If someone came out of the church yard and watched him go he was unaware of it. He swerved around a corner, was lost to sight.

His heart was pounding in his breast like a mad thing. The words Annabel had said so carelessly and jauntily were echoing in his brain. "I . . . take thee . . . for better, for worse . . ."

A veil had been torn from his eyes. He was seeing clearly now for the first time in weeks. In this new dream there was a slim, fair-haired girl with eyes that burned deeply, darkly blue. In the dream she put her hand in his. She said the words Annabel had said, but with a difference.

"I, Katharine . . ."

How could he, for one single instant, have forgotten her? He must have been half-mad.

A roadster, careening on two wheels, shot down the road and went around a corner. Michael, in the shadow of the hedge, watched it go. Sally's car. But tomorrow—why, good God, tomorrow he was supposed to marry Sally in that very church from which he had just fled! And who was Sally but a pouting stranger? What a frightful mess!

Lucky for him this revelation had come on his wedding eve instead of his wedding night. Sally would have to know. He could imagine her rage and, manlike, blanch at the thought. It would have to be got through somehow. He could face it, with the thought of Katharine to sustain him.

His heart lifted at the bare notion Katharine—his wife! But where had she been all these weeks? What had she been thinking of him? If he went home now Sally would be certain to find him. Later tonight he would face it. But just now the important thing was to learn about Katharine.

HE strode along toward the Mersey house. That dark-haired woman who had looked at him so oddly the other day; she was Katharine's friend. She would tell him what he wished to know.

The house was in darkness except for a glimmer of light in the servant's wing. Michael knocked, and a stout, colored woman in a striped dress came to the door. Mrs. Meiser was in the city, she said. She would not be back until late.

Michael went back to the village and called the Strykhurst house from a pay station. A warm Irish voice informed him that Miss Katharine was in the west. Did the gentleman care to speak to Mrs. Strykhurst?

Bertine's lofty accents. "This is Mrs. Strykhurst. Who is it calling?" "It's Michael Heatheroe."

You could sense the steeled coldness with which Katharine's stepmother armed herself. "Is it business?"

His voice was harsh with tension and anxiety. "It's personal."

"I'm afraid I cannot give out my daughter's address so casually," Bertine told him. Before he realized what was happening she had hung up on him.

Well, it was not to be wondered at, he muttered to himself, curbing his rage. Doubtless Bertine had heard he was to be married to Sally Moon tomorrow morning.

He went back to the Moon's, loathing his errand, but bound to see the thing through. Sally's father, a long black cigar clamped between his teeth, glared at him.

"Well, well, young man. What's up? The girl's upstairs having hysterics. Thought you'd run out on her. A fine way to behave," fumed the older man.

"Terribly sorry, sir." He plunged into his story. Married weeks ago. The day of the accident. The whole thing washed from his brain by that blow on the head . . .

"You mean to tell me—you mean to stand there and tell me calmly—" raged Mr. Moon. His face was scarlet. For a moment Michael thought the man was going to have a stroke.

"But you were engaged to my daughter at the time. You certainly were—"

"I was," Michael told him wearily. "I have no excuse. Only the facts. I was—in love with Katharine. Sally and I—well, it was a mistake, sir. From the very start."

JOSEPH MOON stared. Sally had involved him before this in many a situation. This, he told himself, was positively the worst yet. He groped for a chair and dropped into it heavily.

"It's an outrage," he stormed. "Matter for the law—I'll have to see my attorney—"

Michael had to listen to a good deal of this, and he did so patiently. He was sorry for the old man. It was all his own fault. He felt a cad and a villain.

"May I see Sally, sir?" "See her? Of course you'll see her! Wouldn't tell her myself 'or a million dollars." Joseph Moon rang a bell and told Frieda to ask Miss Sally to come down to the living room.

Annabel peeped through the French doors and made a round "o" of her mouth at sight of Michael. He could hear Sally's step on the stairs, her high heels clattering. She flung herself in the room, rage stamping her features.

"What's wrong with you? What do you mean running off like that? Making me a laughing stock—"

Michael took her hands. She beat at him in her fury as though she would hurt him grievously. It was her pride that was hurt, not her love, he reminded himself. He must remember that.
